HUGE SUMS SQUANDERED

Miss Emma Bell Williams, stenographer to George H. Williams, whose death has revealed a bewildering mass of kited checks, forged notes of hand, and otherwise complicated personal accounts, was found today by the AMERICAN. Williams' death revealed that he owed something like a million dollars, while his estate will scarcely reach $100,000. Miss Williams received under the terms of his will $25,000. Miss Williams is residing at her home at No. 531 Brook road, Milton. Her father there today refused to allow her to see him.

Mr. Williams, who is about seventy years old, said:

"The papers would be better to mind their own business, than to pry into our affairs. What good would it do were my daughter to tell what she knows of this thing."

"The papers said 'I admitted' he had called upon my daughter. Of course he called on her. But when he came to the house, it wasn't to see her alone. It was to see all of us. This was common knowledge. We never denied it. He was our good friend."

"The papers said I said Emma had gone to 'Paris unknown.' I merely said she had gone away. She was away two or three days, and then she returned and is in the house now."

"That no one is going to see her."

Engage Counsel for Girl.
"We have engaged an attorney. What Emma knows will be kept for the court. We will keep our mouths shut until the time comes. There is nothing gained by talking. It is all nobody's business."

Mr. Williams gave his daughter three hundred and bequeathed her $25,000, and continued on Page 5, Column 1.

Leave Placard to "Collect Deeds From Aqueduct."

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The station building at Kenton, near Newcastle, with all their contents, were destroyed this morning by fire. Placards were left on the scene bearing the words: "Promote Aqueduct as a responsible for military. Apply to him for damages."

Revering for the corps of gunnery of the Women's Social and Political Union has come to a standstill for the reason that the authorities, alarmed at the growing number of women asking permission to bear arms, have decided to fine any woman $1000 to women. Nevertheless, no less than 300 women in every group had been issued to members of the W. S. P. U. before this restrictive measure was adopted.

Edison Tired Out By His Vacation

Physician Says He Ought Never to Have Another.

Thomas A. Edison never is to have another vacation, if his physician has his way about it.

His New England motor trip vacation of two weeks from which he returned Sunday to his home in West Orange, N. J., has taxed him out completely and he is unable to continue his experiments upon electricity. He is more tired out than he ever was from working twenty and twenty-four hours a day, declared his physician today.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 12.—Two more victims of the wreck at North Haven September 2 are able to leave the hospital today, and now there remain in local hospitals only ten of those who were injured. Mr. and Mrs. Pennington of Philadelphia were the ones discharged today.

ROXBURY WOMAN IS SEVERELY BURNED

Mrs. Catherine Perry of No. 411 Hill avenue here at the City hospital, while cooking dinner in a hot stove in her home.

Her husband, William J. Perry, rushed into the kitchen and while he was endeavoring to extinguish the fire, he was in the street near a fire alarm. Fire Chief Shaffer administered first aid.

"BIG" REOPEN KILLED BY RANTOUL DIVORCE

The famous Rantoul divorce case will in all probability be opened again today for the filing of two petitions by Mrs. Lois Burritt Rantoul, favorite daughter of James Russell Lowell, with the clerk of the East Cambridge court, charging that her husband, Edward at Rantoul, had utterly failed to live up to his agreement of the divorce handed down by Judge Hall on February 27 last.

She alleges that he has failed to provide for the proper and reasonable maintenance of the children, that he has repeatedly violated the decree, and that on August 20 he wrongfully discharged the nurse and has refused to recall her (this nurse) to care for the children, and has also refused to employ another nurse satisfactory to her.

In her second petition Mrs. Rantoul claims that the $150 a month that she is receiving, as part of the divorce, is wholly inadequate for the support of the children and herself. That her husband is possessed of sufficient property and had an income in 1913 which would enable him to pay a sum largely in excess of the present amount.

Body Was Seen by Thousands.

After Sullivan's body was picked up and taken to the morgue it was viewed by thousands of persons, most of whom recognized the well-known features of the famous Tammany politician. Sullivan had been killed within a short time after he disappeared from his brother's home.

Identification of the body was brought about by a policeman who knew Sullivan. He happened to pass the case in the Twenty-sixth street morgue when he saw a face that looked familiar. He could not at once recognize the dead man, but later he decided that it must be Sullivan.

Big Tim was fifty years old and left a fortune estimated at about $2,000,000. He was heavily interested in theatrical ventures and was a partner in the firm of Comstock and Sullivan. About a year ago Sullivan was declared incapable of administering his business affairs and his estate was partitioned. Close friends of Sullivan declared that "Big Tim" had been given the worst of it and said so.

Said to Have Gone West.

When Sullivan disappeared one report had it that his friends had spirited him away. He was rumored to be occupying a hotel in Southampton, L. I., but this person turned out to be another Sullivan—the son of "Little Tim."

Sullivan was also said to have gone west to visit some of his theatrical agencies, but this report likewise was groundless.

Policeman James Stack, who found Sullivan's body, said:

"It was about 4 o'clock on the morning of August 31 that I saw the body of 'Big Tim' huddled up beside the tracks of the New Haven road near the Rye station. A train had passed just a few minutes before, and I immediately guessed that someone had been killed. The body was badly crushed and the face was covered with blood. I could not remember ever having seen the man before. I turned in an official report of the finding and had the body sent to the Fordham morgue for identification. Later it was taken to another morgue in Manhattan."

Court Holds Mule Common Carrier

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12.—That a mule is a common carrier in the same sense as the greatest railroad, was the decision of the Franklin Circuit Court in the suit of A. C. Brays against a casualty company. Brays held an accident policy insuring him while riding on a common carrier. He was riding a mule over a Kentucky mountain road when he was thrown off and injured.

Threaten Riot Over Prisoner

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—Harry Thaw's friends here purchased for him a through ticket from Caledonia, N. H., to Liverpool, England, it was reported here today. The ticket will be given Thaw the moment he is released from detention, either on bail or by habeas corpus proceedings. Such a ticket would allow him to pass through Canada safely, and once he was across the line few other United States citizens could check him.

—Orders to be ready to shoot at the first sign of trouble were given Harry Thaw's guards today after developments made the situation so tense that an outbreak was feared.

Sheriff Hornebeck of Dutchess County, New York, arrived at Concord with requisition papers, and immediately Thaw's case here was continued till Thursday, September 18.

The report was that the lumbermen, river drivers and rough element held a small assembly and loudly declared they would see Thaw get shot. Sheriff Dwyer responded by ordering his men to be ready to shoot, but shoot low.

These warnings, however, threatened to "start a riot" if an attempt was made to allow Thaw. Jerome replied that he himself would be the first to react to "strong arm methods" in such a case.

Jerome has a special train on the siding here with steam up, ready to start at a second's notice if Governor Parker's requisition papers.

The scholastic football season will be opened today at Waltham High when the eleven of Waltham and Marlborough High schools clash on the Waltham High Athletic Field. The game is scheduled to start at three o'clock and it is expected that a large gathering of football enthusiasts will attend in order to witness their first look at a game this season.

For the past six or seven years Waltham High has inaugurated the local griffin game. The management of the school as usual has extended an invitation to all high school coaches and captains to attend the game.

In spite of the early date, the players of the competing teams are in great condition for a hard battle. The cold weather of the past week filled the boys with vigor and they intended to get in fine fettle practice.

Five Veterans on Waltham.

Coach Percy Duggan of the Waltham team, but few veterans to start the season with and has built a strong team around them. Over forty candidates reported for practice, the remainder of the team being picked from this group.

This afternoon, Duggan of Mills was likely to start the game in the halfback position. Richardson at fullback and Pickett at quarterback. All these men are veterans and should make a fine showing in the game this season.

"Bells" Fagan, who has been at Waltham during the workouts, will in all probability start the game in the center position. Fagan will be able to do the punting for his team. He is one of the best punners in the high school today and much depends on his work in this position.

Carver will play the other end. Both he and Kane are fast and aggressive and their defensive work is exceptionally good.

Handel Johnson will play the tackle position. Jones and Smith at ends and Howell will start the game at center.

Plans to Use Subs.

This team is about the weight of an average high school eleven and in practice has displayed good form, both on the offense and defense. Coach Harry Duggan expects a representative Waltham eleven.

Many substitutes will be used during the game, as Duggan intends to give as many boys as possible an opportunity to show their worth. The game will be played in ten-minute periods.

Although undefeated, the Marlborough High boys come to the Waltham City contest with a record of one win and one loss. The Marlborough team has been undefeated in its first two games, but the team has been somewhat out of sync in its play.

The only player to escape the charge in the battle order was Mike Mitchell. Mitchell was the only player who was not in the lineup.

Big Shakup In Pirates' Lineup

Pittsburgh, Sept. 13.—Desperate in his efforts to stop the batting slash of the Pirates, Manager Fred Clarke has undertaken a big shakup in the Brown lineup.

The Pirates have scored only four runs in the last four games.

Ellen Wagner has been lifted out of the cleanup position, and his place taken by Jimmy Vee. This is the second time in his wonderful career that the Dutchman has been taken out of the lineup.

Boles drops to second place, Wagner comes third, three Vee, with Williams, Miller and Mitchell in fifth, sixth and seventh places, respectively.

The only player to escape the charge in the batting order was Mike Mitchell. Mitchell was the only player who was not in the lineup.

York vs. Jimmy Moran of Chicago.

The final outcome of the bicycle season will take place at the Harvard track today. The feature event will be a five-cornered, one-hour, motor-paced race, which will bring together Elmer Collins, the crack Irish cyclist; Percy Lawrence, Clarence Garmann, Menus Beffel and Jimmy Moran, a favorite and veteran rider.

This is the first time this season that a race of this kind has been held at the Harvard Oval. To pick the winner would be going a little out of the way, as all are either new at one-hour riding, but Collins rates the favorite.

In Garmann and Lawrence, the Lynn boy will meet two worthy opponents.

Collins has shown a wonderful performance, as he is an exceptionally quick rider. The work of Lawrence during the past three weeks at the Harvard track has been of the sensational kind.

BROWNS SPEAK SHORT SERIES WITH THE SOX

The lower St. Louis Browns will soon have a short series of games with the Red Sox at the Fenway Park today.

The team is temporarily in charge of Third Baseman Jimmy Austin, who was appointed to the position of manager by Owner Hedges, after he had discharged George Stovall.

Jimmy has not had any great success with the Mound City aggregation, and he and the players are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Branch Rickey, the new manager and former secretary of the club.

Rickey is expected to join the team in Boston, Tuesday.

It seems likely that Manager Bill Carrigan will give his recruits another opportunity to perform this afternoon.

St. Louis has been fairly easy for the Red Sox to beat, and this is a good chance for the Sox to try out some of his new material.

Mundy will be at first base today, while Austin will play third and young Hulse will work in left field.

This will be the last series of the season between the Red Sox and Browns.

Up to date the Boston team has won fifteen of the twenty games played and there is no reason why Carrigan should not carry off a majority of the present games.

The series will also provide the Red Sox a good chance to slip away from "Chick" Carrigan's grasp.

East Boston will pitch the opening game against the Browns and Earl Howe, line, considered the best batsman on the St. Louis staff, will be his opponent.

Portland Awarded Protested Game

The protest of Portland in the game with New Bedford August 29 has been sustained by President Marmore and the game awarded to Portland.

President Marmore's decision was: "One man was out, and one man was on third base when the game was called, and the ball was in play."

The final outcome of the bicycle season will take place at the Harvard track today. Sidelights on Sports BY A. H. C. MITCHELL

THEir modest Browns of St. Louis are here today. They have a manager, but he is dying under trying to make good his threat to strengthen the club. His name is Branch Rickey. We in Boston do not know much about him. He is a short, stout, middle-aged man. He is a native of St. Louis. He is a native of St. Louis. He is a native of St. Louis.

After his first game when he was manager of the Browns, seven or eight years ago. Rickey caught a game or two for the present president of the Red Sox organization, but didn't show enough to warrant Rickey keeping him on the St. Louis payroll. So he sold or traded him to the New York Americans when Rickey was manager. Rickey did not develop Rickey into a world leader, and in the course of time he drifted out of the major leagues. After that he began to coach college ball teams in the West, and at last became a scout. As a scout for the St. Louis team he did not seem to have set the world ablaze. The Browns are not leading the league as far as can be seen.

QUITE a number of scouts have become managers. The process is a simple one. Sit in the grand stand with the president of the club, and if the president doesn't happen to be a man who has been through the major leagues, he is a scout. He is a scout. He is a scout.

McAfee, for example, gave his several seasons of second games. Second, guess what he is now. What a scout thinks the manager should have done, instead of what he did. If a scout thinks a player is a scout, he is a scout. He is a scout.

If a scout thinks a player is a scout, he is a scout. He is a scout. He is a scout.

If a scout thinks a player is a scout, he is a scout. He is a scout. He is a scout.

If a scout thinks a player is a scout, he is a scout. He is a scout. He is a scout.

If a scout thinks a player is a scout, he is a scout. He is a scout. He is a scout.

If a scout thinks a player is a scout, he is a scout. He is a scout. He is a scout.
